Statement for certified high net worth individual

The Securities Law in ISRAEL stipulates that the offer of securities to the public requires publication of a prospectus. Corporations, whose securities are offered according to a prospectus or are registered for trade on the stock exchange, have to submit regular reports in accordance with the Securities Law and its Regulations. One of the exceptions to this requirement, to publish a prospectus, is an offer to investors considered by the legislator as not being in need of protection, at the time when securities are offered to them. These investors are characterized by their ability to make educated decisions, hence, the legal protection, provided by the law, is not essential for them. These investors are usually termed "Institutional", "Qualified" or "Classified". The term "qualified investors" is also used in other context in the securities laws, particularly in cases where the legislator finds it appropriate to differentiate between a "small investor", for whom all the legal protections are created, and those defined as "qualified investors".

PLEASE READ The definition for both individuals and corporations under which they will be regarded as "qualified investors" under the Israeli law:

Investor declaration:

After reading the "definition for both individuals and corporations under which they will be regarded as qualified investors"

1. I Review of contexts in which the definition of "qualified investor" is mentioned or required, under the Israeli law;
2. Presentation of "qualified investor" definitions for different matters under foreign laws (under the European Directive, USA, Britain and France in light of the EU definitions);
3. Proposals for definition of individuals and corporations as "qualified investors" under the Israeli law;

I declare that I am a certified "qualified investors" or "Qualified investors" or "Institutional investors" as defined under the Israeli law.

I accept that I can lose my property and other assets from making investment decisions based on financial promotions.

I am aware that it is open to me to seek advice from someone who specializes in advising on investments.
